Learning Management for Manufacturing

● Address Critical Requirements

Adhere to OSHA and ISO regulations or support Six Sigma/ lean manufacturing initiatives by delivering health and safety training to reduce accidents and work stoppage.

● On-the-Job Evaluation

Learning is one thing. Doing is another. Ensure learners can demonstrate complex tasks by adding and tracking evaluation tasks as part of your training programs.

● Monitor Compliance

Reduce risk via targeted dashboards and tailored reports that identify staff or partners who are out of compliance. With the Meridian LMS, manufacturers can better comply with government regulations, union requirements, or warranty guidelines.

● Certification

Manage and track certifications, licenses, and accreditations in one robust system.

● Modern User Interface

Deliver a personalized, consumer-grade learning experience via an easy to navigate user interface that your learners will love.

Today's manufacturing organizations are challenged to find a robust learning management solution that can develop and engage their existing workforce, meet compliance regulations in the markets where they operate, and better educate resellers and customers.

● Robust Capabilities

Meridian's advanced mobile learning authoring tools and mobile capabilities also offer flexibility for dispersed learners within and without your enterprise to take training anytime, anywhere.

● Learning Beyond Your Enterprise

Meridian LMS reduces the cost of reseller and client support, boosts time to market for new products and services and manages training records within and beyond the enterprise in one system.

● Partner Autonomy

Let vendor and support organizations manage and augment their own programs while maintaining overall visibility and accountability.

● Develop and Engage Workforce

Meridian's Career Development functionality allows you to define skill-based competencies, job profiles, and career paths, and lets learners plan for their next role and achieve professional growth.

With Meridian LMS, manufacturers can take a proactive compliance training approach to address today's and tomorrow's regulatory requirements.
